We will be taking an old bathroom out of the family room and making two bedrooms out of the family room, also changing one picture window and putting two smaller ones in its place, we also will be putting a utility room at the southeast corner of the house where there was a bedroom, and tearing a wall out between the existing bathroom and closet and making it all one bathroom.

The walls and ceilings will be paneled and drywalled and where there are new walls to be paneled there will be $\frac{1}{2}$ drywall backing.

There also will be a new door going out the back at the Southeast corner.
